School Tax Boost Ok'd In Venice 165-139

Board Meets Tonight To Canvass Ballots, View Tentative Budget

In a light turnout by voters, a 40-cent increase in the Venice school district educational tax was approved Saturday, Aug. 139. Saturday, the board will meet at 7:30 this evening to canvass the ballots and also to review a tentative budget for the 1964-65 school year.

Voting in the special election was held from noon to 7 p.m., at the Venice High School gymnasium, and the total vote was 313, including the 165 favoring the proposal, 139 against and nine spoiled ballots.

The district currently has a maximum tax rate of $1.25 per $100 assessed valuation, the lowest in Madison county. School board members have said the total amount of the increase will not be levied at the present time, but as proposed. With the increase, the maximum vote for educational purposes can go to $1.65.

Rising cost of operations, including salaries, supplies and equipment and improvements plus increasing enrollment was given as the reason for the tax boost. There also has been a cut in the district's railroad tax assessment.

The present total school tax rate in the Venice district is $1,698, including $1.25 for educational purposes, 17.5 cents for building and maintenance and interest; 2.24 cents for employee retirement; 2.77 cents for the working cash fund, and 1.77 cents for transportation of pupils.

St. Louis City Councilman Michael Leathem said other than a laudable business also will be taken up at tonight's special board meeting.

Last year's school budget totaled $688,432, and there was a $635,408 tax levy.

Hoyt Plant Strike Ends Friday; 160 Workers Return

Production workers at the Hoyt plant of the National Lead Company, 16th street and Cleveland bldv., were back on their job today after ending an eight-day strike that involved wage and fringe-benefit issues for 160 workers.

Termination of the strike came Thursday night when members of the United Steelworkers Local 1000, who had been meeting at the Labor Temple, agreed to an agreement worked out after three days of meetings with a representative of the U.S. Construction Mediation Service in St. Louis.

The striking workers returned to their jobs Friday morning, having been reassigned to various departments of the company. The strike, which began Aug. 1, was agreed upon after the company met union requests for a system of distribution that would cover part of recently increased hospitalization premiums.

Job Evaluation

He said the company and a union agreed upon a proposal to evaluate workers' performance. He said 35 percent of the increase for the first year as a fund for removing job inequities in return for which the company dropped its demand for an extensive "formal" evaluation plan.

Need-Survey of County Buildings Under Way

A building needs survey of county-owned property is to be made by the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning commission which is sending questionnaires to various county departments as a preliminary step.

On the basis of information gathered, recommendations will be made for remodeling, repairing or new construction. Each department will be considered on the basis of governmental structure and organization, growth patterns and the corresponding need for expansion. In addition to general population growth, auxiliary needs such as parking space, and evaluation of the condition of existing structures.

Evaluations will be made with a view toward the expected growth during the next 15 to 20 years.

W

WE ALL KNOW that fishermen don't tell lies . . .

they just exaggerate. Take our friend, Gus Jones, with the trick tape measure. When Gus measures an 8-inch fish . . . the tape measure shows that it is 28 inches long.

We hope that the continual references the rural electric co-ops make regarding their operation as a "yardstick" for comparing their electric service and rates is also in fun . . . because the yardstick they use is a trick yardstick, too. That's because the co-ops are specifically exempt from the federal income taxes that Illinois Power pays.

If Illinois Power Company enjoyed the same tax exemptions in figuring its total tax bill as the co-ops did in 1963, our savings could have provided every one of our commercial and industrial customers

FREE electricity for five months of the year and we still would have earned the same amount of profit.

This is a true statement and we can prove it.

2 GC Women Honored By General at AVCOM

Kelly Hogan, 17, of 3205 Wilsire drive, was fined $30 and costs Friday by Maristate Gasparovic, who recommended that his license be suspended for 60 days. It was his second offense.

The youth, who was caught while swimming in the water at the Town and Country swimming pool in Collinsville last night, was swimming in a boy hole, drowning by removing him from deep water in the pool and using mouth-to-mouth respiration.

The boy, who could not swim, had a heart condition. The letter said that if Hogan had been only a bystander, and not a life guard, he would have received a $100 bonus distinguished service award.

The letter was signed by Louis H. Antoine, chairman of the Illinois State Board of Education.
